

HISTORIC EVENT IN MEXICAN AFFAIRS.

Gen. Carranza entering Mexico City, amid the cheers of thousands of all classes.

U. S. SHIPS TO STAY JUST OFF MEXICO

Government Has No Intention of Withdrawing Warcraft. Situation Unsatisfactory.

There is no intention on the part of the United States government to decrease the number of ships in Mexican and West Indian waters at this time.

This was made clear by Secretary Daniels today following a conference with Rear Admiral F. F. Fletcher, who has been on leave for several weeks. Secretary Daniels announced that Admiral Fletcher will not take over command of the Atlantic fleet until the last of this month. Meanwhile, Rear Admiral Badger will remain in command until relieved.

Details Not Arranged.

Secretary Daniels said that Admiral Fletcher will go to Vera Cruz to assume command, but the details of his trip to Mexico have not been arranged. That involves a change in earlier plans, which provided that Admiral Badger would transfer command of the fleet to Admiral Fletcher in Hampton Roads and that the Atlantic fleet would be withdrawn from Mexican waters.

The fact that the fleet is to remain at Vera Cruz and that Admiral Fletcher is to return there in the near future is taken to indicate that the Washington officials are not entirely satisfied with the political outlook in Mexico under the regime of Carranza and that the American military and naval forces in Mexico will not be reduced or withdrawn until there is a radical improvement in the situation.

Naval Forces to Remain in Gulf.

No decrease in the naval forces now in the Gulf of Mexico is contemplated and the plan to have Rear Admiral Fletcher, who soon will succeed Rear Admiral Badger as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, take over the command in Hampton Roads, has been abandoned.

The sale of pulque, the national drink of Mexico, and all other intoxicants has been forbidden in Mexico City because of the recent clash between constitutionalist soldiers and the police, according to ad-

MEXICAN ELECTIONS CALLED FOR NOVEMBER

Foreign Minister Fabela Goes to Vera Cruz to Confer With Americans.

MEXICO CITY, September 2.—General elections have been called for November. Until these are held the country will continue under military rule. A cabinet meeting was held in Chapultepec castle last night, but neither President Carranza nor any of the ministers would make known the subject under discussion.

Foreign Minister Fabela will leave today for Vera Cruz, where it is presumed he will take part in a conference with Paul Fuller and John R. Sullivan, representatives of the American government, and Fernando Iglesias Calderon, the Mexican historian, who is closely connected with President Carranza.

The government has issued a decree prohibiting the condemnation of property by army officers without a signed order from Gen. Carranza. The decree also prohibits military arrests on a mere accusation, two accusers being required. These accusers must prove their charges against a person within seventy-two hours or suffer the penalty which would result were the accused proven guilty. The decree is considered necessary to prevent scores of innocent persons being imprisoned and reckless confiscation of property.

Bryan Thanks Villa.

EL PASO, Tex., September 2.—Three generals, Francisco Villa and Alvaro Obregon of the constitutional army and John J. Pershing, commander of the American troops here, met yesterday in friendly fashion in the Mexican consular offices. The exchange of greetings was taken as significant of Washington's good will toward the new government of Mexico, especially in view of Villa's and Obregon's apparent successful efforts in quelling the state revolution in Sonora, whence they returned yesterday.

Secretary of State Bryan telegraphed

STEAMFITTERS' UNION AND MASTERS DISPUTE

Agree on Wage Scale, But Not on Date of Signing Yearly Scale, So Men Quit Work.

Practically all members of Steamfitters' Local, No. 602, together with the steamfitters' helpers, were idle today pending the settlement of differences between the union and the Master Steamfitters' Association of the District of Columbia regarding the wage scale. A special meeting of the union is being held this afternoon, at which it is hoped the differences will be adjusted without the necessity of a strike.

At union headquarters in the Le Droit building today it was said that only about sixteen members of the union remained at work yesterday when the order was given to stop, and that these were men employed on government contracts and a big private contract, where wage differences were not permitted to interfere with the work. About 200 members of the union, it was said, stopped work yesterday.

It was claimed at headquarters that the union some time ago asked for an increase in pay from $4.40 a day of eight hours to $5.40 for the same day's work, an increase of $1 a day. The Master Steamfitters' Association demurred to this, and a compromise finally was reached, the men accepting an increase of 20 cents a day. The difference now existing between the workmen and employers is in regard to the date on which the annual wage scale shall be signed. The union demands that the agreement shall be signed September 1 each year, while the employers insist that May 1 shall be the time for signing the agreement.

Zea Talks of Trouble.

President Stover D. Zea of the union, who is also business agent of the organization and secretary of the Washington Building Trades Council, said today that a strike of long duration would have serious consequences for the contractors at this time, and declared the action of the Master Steamfitters' Association in calling a meeting to discuss the strike situation was a step toward settlement. Mr. Zea said he was confident employees would hold out for their original demands.

Practically all of the large contractors in Washington are affected by the strike.

PRESIDENT DENIES HE SENT PROTEST

Has Not Requested Germans to Cease Destruction of Belgium Cities.

HERRICK TAKES ACTION FOR AMERICANS IN PARIS

Dropping of Bombs by German Airships Subject of Complaint by Ambassador.

President Wilson today requested denial of reports that he had sent a protest to Emperor William of Germany against the reported destruction of Belgian cities by German troops. White House officials said that the President had taken absolutely no action.

Ambassador Herrick transmitted to the State Department today the protest of a committee of Americans in Paris against the dropping of bombs by German airships.

The ambassador cabled that the French war office had furnished evidence that the bombs were dropped by Germans, as small German flags and proclamations addressed to the French were contained in them. The ambassador made no protest of his own accord, simply stating that it was the conviction of Americans who investigated the subject that the incident was a violation of The Hague convention and contrary to the rules of civilized warfare.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS TODAY

Choice of Next Convention City Also on Program at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 2.—Election of officers and selection of a convention city were on the program today at the annual meeting of United Spanish War Veterans, while the women's national auxiliary was to consider a resolution asking that all other women's organizations in the country join hands with the auxiliary to secure immediate peace in war-ridden Europe.

Nominations to head the veterans' organization were made yesterday. Cities most prominently mentioned for the next convention are Toledo, Omaha and San Francisco.

Consideration of various legislative matters connected with the organization also was on the program today.

Proceedings Yesterday.

Yesterday the convention appropriated $200 for the use of the American Red Cross and directed that it be spent for the relief of sufferers in the European war situation, that Congress establish a museum at Washington where the relics of all wars in which the United States have been involved may be preserved; requested the Secretary of the Interior to investigate the cause of a malarial prevalent among veterans who have seen service in the tropics. It was characteristic of the disease, it was said, that the blood of those afflicted with it turn to water.

The convention has provided for a membership at large to include veterans in localities where they are too few to form a camp.

G. A. R. FROM 40 STATES PARADE 10,000 STRONG

Forty-Eighth Annual National Review Is Witnessed by Thousands in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., September 2.—Despite threatening weather countless thousands thronged sidewalks and parks and tops of buildings; jammed grandstands and sightseeing vehicles and fought for strategic places along Woodward avenue today to view one of the greatest and perhaps the most memorable of parades which has ever passed through the streets of Detroit. For the forty-eighth time members of the Grand Army of the Republic marched in national review.

Parade the Crowning Event.
The parade was the crowning event of the encampment, which officially began Monday and ends Saturday, and which has brought more than 12,000 veterans to Detroit. Mingled in the immense crowd along the line of march were wives and daughters and friends of the old soldiers; most of them members of organizations affiliated with the G. A. R. The women were not allowed the privilege of joining the long procession. Washington Gardner, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, headed the parade.

From Canfield avenue to Jefferson avenue on Woodward avenue is about a mile and a half. This was the route of the marchers. The street car and the vehicle traffic was diverted to other streets during the review. Scores of patrolmen stationed on the avenue were reinforced by companies of Boy Scouts, youngsters who have won much praise for the efficient manner in which they have acted as bodyguards for the old soldiers since the encampment began.

Forty States in Line.
Forty state departments, each led by the commander and totaling 10,000 strong of the boys in blue, comprised the backbone of the parade. A campfire at the Light Guard armory tonight was to bring the day's celebration to a close.

Cutter Contract Awarded.
Contracts for the construction of two new revenue cutters were awarded today to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Newton. The contract price for the two cutters is $300,000, which is $49,700 less than the next highest bidder. The two cutters are to be completed in ten months.
